

WES PENRE PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS:

Wes Penre Articles

Article #1: Can Nanobots be Removed?

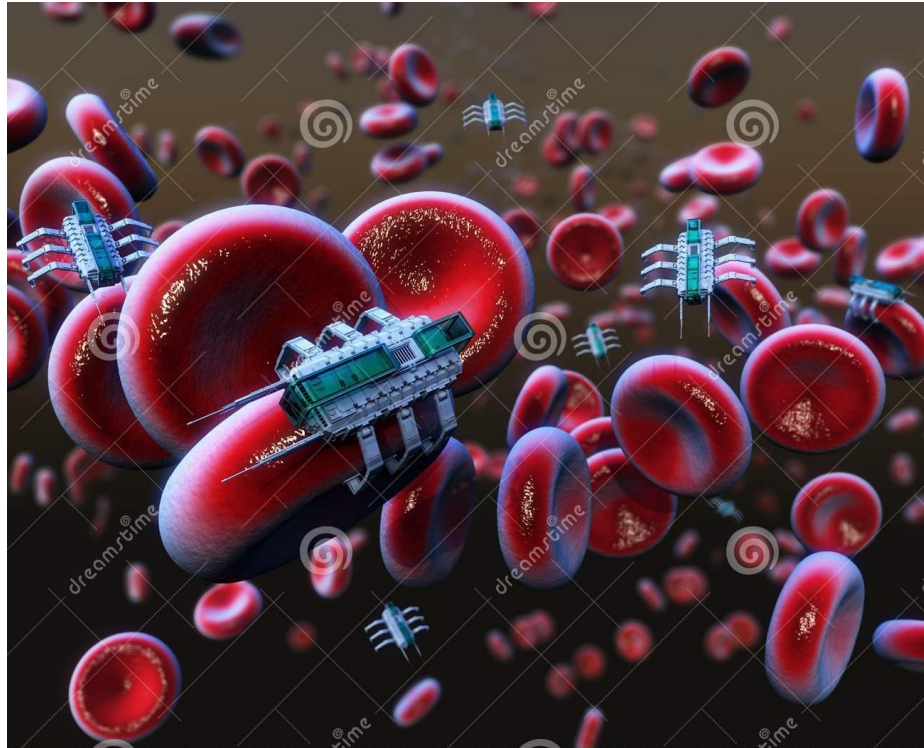

Copyright ©2016 Wes Penre Productions. All rights reserved. This is an electronic e-book, free of charge, which can be downloaded, quoted from, and copied to be shared with other people, as long as nothing in this paper is altered or quoted out of context. Not for commercial use. Editing provided by Professor Bob Stannard: www.twilocity.com

Article #1: Can Nanobots be Removed?

by Wes Penre, Sunday, Aug. 14, 2016

Updated: Wednesday, Aug. 17, 2016

Download from Dreamstime.com
This watermarked comp image is for previewing purposes only.

ID 18339098
Glazyuk | Dreamstime.com

In my book, Synthetic Super Intelligence and the Transmutation of Humankind—A Roadmap to the Singularity and Beyond,* I discussed, among many other things, nanobots and the Singularity.

In order to get a fuller understanding on the subject, I suggest that the reader reads my book, but those of you who already have a fair grasp of what Artificial Intelligence, Transhumanism, and the Singularity are, should not have problems understanding the meaning of this short article.

In my book, I explained how the Alien Invader Force (AIF) have instructed the Controllers (the alien hybrids of the first generation, who run the show here on Earth, taking direct orders from En.ki's son Marduk), and their Minions (the power many people call the Illuminati, the Global Elite, the Powers That Be, etc. taking orders from the Controllers), to recently add nanobots to the chemtrails, vaccines, certain prescription drugs, and so on.

* The book can be downloaded here: http://wespenre.com/My-Books/Book2-AI/wes_penre_synthetic_super_intelligence_and_the_transmutation_of_man_a_roadmap_to_the_singularity.pdf

In order to prepare humanity to serve the AIF agenda, they need for us to already have thousands, perhaps millions, of synthetic nanobots in our biological system as we rapidly approach and arrive at the Singularity, and the Controllers are making sure we get these bots in our blood system one way or another. If the area where you live is being sprayed with chemtrails, you are breathing in these nanobots—there is no way to avoid that. I have them in my blood stream, and you might have them in yours, too, if you see chemtrails in the sky, take vaccines, or certain prescription drugs—particularly pain medication and psychiatric drugs.

Nanobots have many functions. They work as antennas, which means they are both receivers and transmitters of information when activated. Those in charge of this project can thus retrieve information from our endocrine system, but they can also alter the functions of the endocrine system as they please. This will be particularly important as the Singularity approaches, and it won't be long now. The goal is to have the Singularity in place by 2045; something I exposed in my book.

Another function that the nanobots will have is to eventually replace the cells in our body. The Singularitists want the cells in our organs to be replaced with this nano-sized artificial intelligence (AI). For example, if a person is old, and his or her organs begin to fail, younger cells from this organ will be retrieved, and the old, failing organ will be replaced by an entirely new organ, and if a person needs a heart transplant, as one example, the new heart will be as young and vital as it was when the person was in his or her twenties or early thirties. The plan is to replace all our organs this way and thus give us synthetic, eternal life.

Before we get too excited, there is a serious catch to this agenda; the new organs will not consist of organic cells but of synthetic nanobots that can keep the organs young “forever.” The person will remain in his or her twenties or thirties (the person's choice) for an “eternity.” At that point, they have become the definition of a cyborg—half human and half machine. The human part is the soul/mind/spirit body that will occupy these cyborgs, who will look just as you and I do but will consist of nanobots rather than human cells. According to the Controllers and their Minions, there will be no death post-Singularity because those in charge will make sure that if something were to fail in the body they can rejuvenate that part of the body. In the extension, people who are part of the Singularity (the new cyborg species, whom I call Posthumans—a term coined by Dr. Ray Kurzweil who is one of the AI Prophets working for the Controllers), will be able to rejuvenate their own physical bodies.

In the near future, the synthetic nanobots in our system will be the key to keeping us trapped in the third dimensional reality forever because cyborg bodies can't die. This also means that the soul/mind/spirit body can't leave this cyborg, and they will be stuck here and controlled by a Super Brain Computer (SBC), which is ultimately run by the Overlords (the AIF). Humanity will become a hive-mind, which is much easier to control than 7 billion individuals, who are prone to being quite unpredictable and difficult to control.

Possibly, the great majority of humankind will become stuck in the Singularity—we, as a human soul group, are rapidly heading toward the Singularity as of this writing in August of 2016. Unless people wake up to this fact and stop choosing to being addicted to electronics, they will inevitably be caught in the Singularity—there would be no way around it. The Singularity will be the end of Homo sapiens sapiens, who will be replaced by a Posthuman species—a cyborg race and a hive-mind, living in a virtual reality world that will be controlled by the Overlords. This virtual reality will eventually make Posthumans into Super Soldiers because the AIF is building a legion of space-faring foot soldiers to attack their number-one enemy: The Orion Empire.

In summary, this is what the Singularitists have in mind for us, and smartphones and nanobots are the cornerstones in this agenda. To learn more, I urge the reader to also read the book I referred to in the beginning of this article.

With the above in mind, how do we get rid of the nanobots that most of us already have in our blood stream? Unfortunately, it seems as if we can't! Once these nanobots are in our system, they will stay there. For now, they are not activated—at least not in the majority of the population, as far as I know.

Although the nanobots can't be removed, there might be a solution to this problem. Albert Einstein once said that a problem cannot be solved on the same level that it was created, and this is no exception. Nanobots are technology on a quantum level, and in order to solve this problem, we need to address this situation on a subquantum or soul level.

Universal Laws exist. One of the most important of these is the Law of Free Will. The Overlords can manipulate us as much as they want, as long as we fall for it and agree to their agenda, which unfortunately, we as a human soul group, have done throughout the eons. However, they need our direct or indirect consent in order to control us. They already have our indirect consent because they are revealing their entire agenda in mainstream media, in movies, and in music, and they are supporting a debate on the subject, because they are well aware that very few people will pick up on it and object. In the meantime, their agenda progresses as usual. The few who protest don't count because they are in the minority. We need a majority of protesters to declare their sovereignty and demand the AIF stop their abuse. Unfortunately, this does not seem to happen; therefore, humanity is heading directly toward the pre-ordained "destiny" set up by the Overlords. This is called indirect consent; people may read about much of this, and even if they think it sounds crazy, most people just shake their heads and continue with business as usual, hoping it won't happen or that someone else will stop it from happening. Some people might even look forward to the Singularity, without realizing what it really is and are too lazy to research it. Instead, they rely on human authorities to decide what is best for everybody.

This is where the solution comes into play. The Overlords need our consent, so let us choose to refuse. Do not give it to them. We might have nanobots in our system, but we do not want them activated—ever. Moreover, we don't want to have anything to do with the Singularity.

We need to individually send out a clear intention into the "Universe." You need to state that you are a sovereign spiritual being, you don't give your consent to have any nanobots activated, and you don't want to be part of the Singularity in any way, shape or form. Please send this intention out as a clear, focused, but light thought and let it expand to include the entire Universe, so everybody out there can "hear" it.

This is how we communicate with the Overlords and anybody else that exists out there in the Multiverse. They will hear us, and they will know without a doubt that we refuse to give our consent to become cyborgs. Therefore, the AIF should not be able to proceed with their agenda for us because we clearly declare our refusal to participate.

I have no full guarantee that this will work, but it should work, unless the Overlords have ways to manipulate such resistance as well. However, if we send out clear thoughts that emphasize our sovereignty as spiritual beings, that should be accepted. If they go ahead anyway, they are breaking the Law of Free Will, and they don't want to do that because it makes them prone to prosecution in the future from a higher authority, if they get caught.

Therefore, I urge everybody who reads this article to send out this intention as soon as possible. Thank you in advance for your participation.

